PROTECTION·CHOICES·PEOPLE

Fabricated Metal

Protect your workplace, your reputation and the environment.

If you're responsible for environmental health and safety at your company, you already know what a challenge OSHA and environmental compliance can be.

Let the environmental professionals at Safety-Kleen help shoulder that responsibility. Our compliance programs can be tailored to the unique needs of any metal fabricator. Plus, our practices provide the highest level of risk reduction in the industry. And we take financial responsibility for the waste we manage for you, protecting you from future liability.

Sustainable choices that keep production running clean and more efficiently.

Metal fabricators need sustainable choices. When you manage a facility, surprises are the last thing you need. Let the environmental professionals at Safety-Kleen show you how to reduce regulatory risk and prolong the service life of your machines.
